Dear diary,

Mom is now... religious? I don't know. We don't even go to church regularly. But mom met this lady named Melinda at the grocery store, and then a week later I went to pick up some peas and ran into that crock (Melinda), and she put her hands on my stomach (!) and shouted—IN THE MIDDLE OF THE STORE—“Mercy! Mercy!” Then she called my mom because she just knew I was Melissia McMaster's daughter (and a shining child of Christ).

So, from here on out I guess my name is Mercy. So long, Hailey. You were a good name. But maybe 'Mercy' will work better for when I'm a cool indie artist who plays in coffee shops for Chaco wearing bimbos and Carhart wearing himbos. I'm both.

John John Jonhson

Melissa, are you coming to Fellowship tonight? We missed you last week, and you missed John John falling onto his knees on the floor again. I think the Spirit of Control was in him, but we eventually cast it out and repossessed him with the Holy Spirit. I know you are a little reluctant, but God called you here. He wants you to stay. His is the way, not ours. Give me a call if you want to talk. You know I hate texting.

Blessings to you and sweet Mercy.💕💕

Philippians 1:3

Hey Melinda! I'm so sorry! Last week I couldn't make it because Mercy had the flu. It wasn't anything serious! I thought I'd told you. I'll be there Wednesday. I'll bring some deviled eggs for the group. Would they like that? Thank you for reaching out.

Melissa, it would be lovely to see you Wednesday. John John is hoping to evangelize to you personally with some very holy activities on Wednesday. I must tell you, and this is no fault of your own, but we do not eat or say "deviled eggs." If you wish to make such a dish, which would be also lovely, please call them "glory eggs." I'm sure you understand.

Blessings💕💕

Mark 6:17-18

“Outward manifestations have included snake handling, strychnine drinking, dancing, rolling about on the floor, screaming, and great emotional outbursts. The current wave is being noted for its spread among the educated in major churches.”

“Hi Ms. McMaster, this is Principal Dina Amin at the Mountain View School. I’ve noticed Hailey has been signing out of the high school campus and spending time at the college’s library with great frequency recently. Of course, we are ecstatic when our students take advantage of our dual enrollment resources. However, I spoke to the librarian today and learned that Hailey is only checking out books related to spirit possession, fringe evangelical movements, and American snake handling. Do you know about this? Give me a call back when you have a moment. Thanks.

Dear diary,

Mom thinks I'm a lunatic because I'm concerned about her new weird friends. Is it my fault that talking about "deliverance from the devil's evil spirits" at the dinner table is strange to me? Or the fact that she's furiously making "glory eggs" in the kitchen? It reeks of sulfur. Deliver me from THAT. I'm hiding in my room trying to learn Hozier's entire discography on my new ukulele. I wish I knew how to tune it.

Melissa, why aren't you answering your phone! Pick up!! You know how I hate texting! Call me back!! Is John John okay? Did you make it to the hospital? He insisted, I tell you, insisted that everything was safe and that God wouldn't let that creature hurt us. Call me back!!

Prayers & Blessings💕💕

John 3:16

Hi Melinda! I drove him to the hospital just fine. Because I was not family, the doctors didn't let me go back with him. I had to go to work anyway. You should go and check on him. I don't think I'll come fellowship again. I'm sorry. Don't worry about my glory egg platter. Keep it.

THE STATE OF NORTH CAROLINA
ANIMAL CONTORL, OFFICER VICTOR GARCIA

Mountain View, North Carolina

March 10

Venomous snake in custody at MW animal shelter. Sold on accident at local PetSmart under name "corn snake" to suspect John John Johnson. Johnson suffered bite to the left hand and right cheek. Snake found in Melinda Ramone's home. Assumed religious follower Melissa McMaster rushed Johnson to hospital. Ongoing investigation conjunct with police department. Will transport snake to Asheboro Zoo post-investigation.

Thursday, March 11th

Dear diary,

No more glory eggs and no more Mercy.

Mom told me when she woke me up for school after getting home from the night shift.

Apparently Melinda and John John are “false friends.” Somehow I’m also not allowed to go to the college’s library anymore? Whatever. I can play Riptide from memory now! Now I just need to learn how to sing in an accent or something—then the crowd will really love me.
